What we do

We help seniors remain independent and in their homes by providing a helping hand where and when they need it most. Our skilled and loving caregivers ensure the safety and security of the home environment with each visit, and provide assistance in daily activities such as dressing, meal preparation, exercising, shopping, running errands, housekeeping, and medication reminders. We think of our seniors as members of our own families, and nurture fond and enjoyable relationships built on trust, respect, and dependability.

What we believe

- We believe in providing on-going caregiver education in senior health, wellness, and safety issues to ensure quality, dependable, and personalized senior care.
- We believe in open and honest communications to fully understand client needs, establish mutual expectations, and set a course toward exceeding those expectations.
- We believe in decency, integrity, and fairness – these are the building blocks for trusting and respectful relationships between caregiver and client.
- We believe in making and keeping commitments – our commitment is to provide compassionate, safe, and well-managed home care.

For a few hours or a whole day... once a week or every day –

Our capable and caring providers assist your elderly loved ones in many ways.

Companionship

We share one-on-one time with seniors in their homes; outside the home, we are their escorts to medical, personal, and recreational engagements.

Personal Care

We help seniors with basic daily activities including getting in and out of bed, walking, bathing, toileting, dressing, medication reminders, appointment scheduling, answering the phone and door, handling mail, reading, and more.

Meal Preparation

We help with grocery shopping and meal preparation.

Non-Medical Outpatient Assistance

We provide transportation with timely arrival at outpatient facilities, personal support, and assistance with post-op instructions and doctor's orders.

Light Housekeeping

We ensure a tidy and neat home by changing linens, making beds, watering plants, disposing of garbage, and more.

Respite Care

We know that family caregivers need opportunities to spend time away from their loved one in order to maintain their own emotional, mental, and physical health. Our respite care services allow family caregivers to enjoy brief periods of rest and relief in confidence knowing that an experienced caregiver is providing for their loved one in their absence.
